

SHARE

Supporting Holistic & Actionable Research in Education

SHARE is a cooperative agreement between USAID and the University of Notre Dame (UND) that aims to advance global education learning priorities to improve learning outcomes. UND is implementing the SHARE Activity in partnership with local higher education and research institutions between 2020-2025. Through SHARE, and together with its partners, UND will provide highly specialized, technical research assistance via buy-in services to design and implement education evaluation and learning tasks in support of country-specific priorities.

WHAT SHARE CAN DO FOR USAID MISSIONS:

Education Evaluation and Primary Research Studies

Development of a country-specific education learning agenda

Education
Learning
Assessments

Technical assistance in education evidence generation, translation,
and/or use

Education sector/system diagnostics

SHARE COMPETENCIES:

Workforce Development

Education Systems
Strengthening

Equity and Inclusion

Decentralization

Information Systems
in Education

Education Technology and Distance Learning

Interdisciplinary Integration

Education in Emergencies

CONTACT:

For more information, contact Elena Walls, USAID | ewalls@usaid.gov

PULTE INSTITUTE FOR GLOBAL DEVELOPMENT

Supporting Holistic and Actionable Research in Education (SHARE) is made possible by the generous support of the American people through the United States Agency for International Development (USAID) under the terms of cooperative agreement No. 7200AA20CA00025.